COOLIDGE URGES STRICT ECONOMY TELLS CONGRESS TO BRING ABOUT A CUT IN TAXES

MUSCLE SHOALS ISSUE TAKEN UP PROPOSALS FOR SETTLEMENT OF PROBLEM HEARD

President, In Annual Message, Declares Congress Can Do More to Remedy Ills of People by System of Economy Than by Any Other Method—Wide Range of Other Recommendations Made.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Coolidge's annual address today immediately upon convening and after listening to its reading plunged into the serious work of the session.

With the exception of the two years, Woodrow Wilson was ill in the White House this was the first time since 1913 that the executive had not delivered his annual communication in person.

It was transmitted by messenger and read separately in the two houses.

Congressional leaders generally held out little hope for translation of many of the president's proposals into law before this Congress dies on March 4. Their views have already been given to the executive at conferences.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—President Coolidge advised Congress in his annual message today that perhaps the most important work it could do at the present session would be to practice such economy as to make possible a reduction of taxes for the next fiscal year.

"The government can do more to remedy the economic ills of the people by a system of rigid economy in public expenditure," he said, "than can be accomplished through any other action."

Although stressing economy, Mr. Coolidge presented a wide range of other recommendations, some new and others reiterations of proposals made a year ago in his first annual message.

Most of these related to domestic affairs, but the president went on to the field to the permanent Court of International Justice; to declare the United States not to be disposed to appeal for support by public authorities and private citizens for the European reparations settlement plan, and to repeat his declaration of opposition to cancellation by the United States of the debts owed the country by foreign nations.

Two new pronouncements marked the president's discussion of foreign affairs. One touched on reduction of war armaments, and the other had reference to the outlawing of war.

"It has been and is my expectation that we might hope for further conference on this subject as soon as this session adjourns," he said, "but it will be necessary to wait to see what the outcome of their action can be. I should not wish to propose or have representatives attend a conference which would be a template for the freedom of action we desire to maintain unimpeded with respect to our purely domestic policies."

Proposals to outlaw aggressive warfare, the president asserted, should be carefully studied and sympathetically viewed.

See Way to Tax Reduction.
Combining discussion of tax reduction with his statement on economy, the president said that the Congress had presented "it will then be possible to have a moderate amount of tax reduction and a tax reform that the country may wish for during the next fiscal year."

He declared publication of income tax payments to be "destructive to the public welfare and bound to decrease public revenues," and urged the repeal of that section of the revenue act.

Aside from his declarations relative to economy and taxation, the outstanding recommendations on domestic affairs made to the president included:

Enactment of such legislative remedies for agricultural ills as are worked out by the recently-appointed agricultural commission and exertion of all efforts "for government activity and by private enterprise to restore and maintain agriculture to a complete normal relationship with other industries."

More Time to Meet Payments.
Passage immediately of pending legislation based on the report of the Reconstruction Finance Commission "for the proper relief of those needing extension of time in which to meet their payments on irrigated land, an additional amendment."

CITY MAY ACT SOON IN THREE BOND ISSUES

Finance Committee Tired of Waiting For Court Injunction May Sell Them

It is reliably understood that the City Council Finance Committee will act at an early date, assuming the school, sewer and street bonds in accordance with the official returns of the June election, and in compliance with the recently adopted bond ordinance.

The committee is said to take the view that while contestants threatened to resort to the courts for the purpose of restraining the council from issuing the bonds, the threat has not been made good and there appears to be a belief resulting from rather intimate enquiries recently made that the court will not be resorted to.

Such a course, it is held might result in a lower bid being secured from the bonds than would be the case if there were no threatened litigation but the council feels free now to offer the bonds for sale supported by the statement that non-litigation is pending.

In offering the bonds for sale the Finance Committee would do so on the explicit understanding that it would have the right to reject all bids if they were below a reasonable figure. It is also recalled that the council has served notice on the contestants that they would be held liable for deterioration in the bond market or for a depreciation in the value of the bonds.

LEAGUE COUNCIL READY TO MEET

Elaborate Preparations Are Under Way For Gathering

(By The Associated Press.)
ROME, Dec. 3.—Elaborate preparations are in the making for the meeting here, beginning next Monday, of the League of Nations council.

Prince Doria has turned over part of his palace, perhaps the largest in Rome, after the various preparations for the meeting.

The palace was decorated in the middle ages to accommodate 6,000 troops, with provisions for six months. As an indication of its luxuriousness it is told of the former German emperor that after being entertained there, he said he would like to return the compliment but that he was unable to offer such magnificence at Potsdam.

At the meeting of the league council, an entrance on the Piazza del Colosseo Romano, is being specially reopened.

GENEVA, Dec. 3.—The league of nations secretariat has been advised that Hajima Brannan, the Swedish premier and member of the league of nations council, is ill with influenza and will be unable to attend forthcoming meeting of the council at Rome.

Mrs. Knode Dies at "Sunnyside"

Mrs. Rebecca Knode, for the past two years a resident at Sunnyside, home, Virginia avenue, died at 3:15 o'clock last night after a prolonged illness. She had been an invalid from the time of her coming to Danville and of recent weeks her condition had grown steadily worse.

Mrs. Knode was 71 years of age and lived most of her life at Mitchell's, in Campbell county, where the body will be taken tonight for interment tomorrow.

Mrs. Knode, who was a member of the Presbyterian church, had been twice married. She leaves two sons, by her first husband, George, of Campbell, of Washington, D. C., and J. R. Carmichael, of Emory and Henry College, Atlanta, both of whom are on their way to Danville and who will accompany the remains to their last resting place.

TOWN TOPICS

The presidents of the three lunch-club met at eleven o'clock today for the purpose of preparing an organization for the collection of the deficit in the Community Chest campaign.

The sum of $6,000 is lacking to make up the total. H. R. Fitzgerald has pledged half the sum individually, leaving the Rotarians, Kiwanis and Lions to secure $1,000 apiece with rivalry existing as to which club will be first in the mopping up campaign.

Miss Agnes Fulford, executive secretary of the Community Welfare Association said this morning that the organization is prepared to act as a clearing house for Christmas relief. Already a list of names of families which probably will lack Christmas cheer unless some outside agency provides it, has been prepared.

Churches or civic associations who intend to do charity this year will, upon applying to the Welfare Association, be given the names of such persons. In this way, Miss Fulford stated, needless duplication will be avoided. In announcing the organization's preparedness to act, Miss Fulford said that she hoped that Christmas bounty would be offered as generously as possible. In this way preparations can be made for Santa Claus in these homes which would not be possible by visiting the homes on Christmas day.

No jury cases were set for hearing in the Corporation court today and Judge Withers is spending the day quietly at his home. The term will be resumed in the morning however when several cases are to be tried.

The civil action brought by the Wilson-Meade Motor Co. against R. W. James for the recovery of $2,100 continued virtually the whole day yesterday, the jury late in the evening returning a verdict awarding the plaintiff $720 damages.

The annual meeting of the Community Welfare Association will be held next Tuesday at eight o'clock at the Young Men's Christian Association at which time annual reports will be submitted, showing the work of the organization. The election of officers will take place and the policies of the organization will come up for discussion.

The Danville public schools will suspend for the Christmas holidays on December 18th remaining closed until the morning of January 5th, according to information secured from the superintendent's office this morning.

BANDIT GROUP OF FRANKLIN CO. IS ROUNDED UP

Charlie Crager Arrested Last Night Brings Total Up to Five

(Special to The Bee.)
ROCKY MOUNT, Va., Dec. 3.—Sheriff J. P. Hodges believes that the band of armed men posing as robbers who have been fleeing motorists on the roads of Franklin county has been rounded up. Today he was trying to get evidence for further holdings which he believes have taken place during the past few days.

So far five clear cases of highway robbery have been booked against the men now in custody.

The arrest yesterday evening of Charlie Crager of Tennessee brought the number in custody up to five in all. Three youths arrested on Monday and who were believed to have taken part in the hold-ups are being held after a search of the records.

There is evidence to believe that the alleged outrages on the road between Roanoke and Henry have been committed by these youths also. Back Carter, now in a Roanoke hospital and Crager.

Carter's condition isn't known here. Sheriff Hodges says that he was shot through the breast while resisting arrest on Tuesday when three villagers, Deputies Smith, Greer and Bridges surprised him near Henry. It is not clear which of the three fired the shot. The officers say that Carter had a pistol in his hand when the officers appeared but that he did not shoot, at the arresting party.

According to men who have been relieved of small amounts on the roadside, they had no difficulty in stopping motorists by flagging them down and then "flashing" their badges. The men were then said to have covered the luckless motorists and to have demanded money in true highwayman style.

Two of the youths held in connection with the hold-ups are Buford and Dudley Bennett, who are said to have clear which of the three fired the shot. The officers say that Carter had a pistol in his hand when the officers appeared but that he did not shoot, at the arresting party.

Perdue managed to reach a farm house where he was hidden and later removed to a hospital in Roanoke.

SCHOONER WITH CREW DRIFTING IN BAD STORM

Ships Sent to Rescue, Combining Almost Unavailable Seas

(By The Associated Press.)
NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 3.—As the winter cruising season of the coast guard service gets underway reports received at Norfolk this morning indicated that another rudderless and sailless ship, with her full crew aboard has drifted beyond the reach of cutters sent from this port to rescue her from the angry sea.

The schooner Bluebird, if she is to go down, will be a "Davy Jones' locker." She was built by the Carabasset and Gresham, which for three days, in the face of almost impossible sailing weather, have cruised the high seas.

There are ships buffeting the gales and storms along the eastern seaboard who had to notify coast guard headquarters that they have scored the 200-odd miles embraced in their cruising area in the search for the Bluebird and that the search has been futile. They have been recalled to their stations, the Carabasset reporting here.

The weather of which she has been cruising is about to be whipped into another northwest gale, the time of arrival of the Carabasset is in doubt. Under ordinary conditions she would reach port tonight or tomorrow, but officials hesitate to predict just when she will get in.

Withdrawal of the Carabasset and Gresham from the search for the Bluebird leaves another schooner drifting in the area, which will find it difficult to guide her or sail to port.

Word received from the Gresham indicated that the Bluebird has drifted far out to sea, and probably to the southward.

The Bluebird carries a crew of 16 men and according to the original notification of distress received from her she lost her rudder and sails in the early part of November. The crew left her with absolute no means of directing her course, or saving herself from the heavy seas which have been running since that date.

KORTEZ TO BE SENTENCED FRI.

Plan Is For Big Swindler to Plead Guilty and Begin Term

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The end of the story of Leo Korte, promoter for 18 years of a Panama oil scheme in which $2,000,000 was invested by friends and relatives, will come before Saturday when he will find himself serving a penitentiary sentence according to Robert E. Crowe, State's attorney.

The prosecutor planned to have Korte carry out today's arraignment in which he would plead guilty to indictments charging larceny, larceny by Bailee, operation of a confidence game and a general charge of all the counts. Hearing of attorneys' pleas tomorrow and probable sentence Friday was the remainder of the program.

Each charge upon conviction would carry a penalty of one to ten years imprisonment.

Korte had been the tale of his ventures which began when as a duped investor, he applied methodically to the time he had been victimized to the time he fled to Havana, N. S., from where he was brought back this week.

In bankruptcy court yesterday he submitted to hours of questioning by attorneys for receivers of his estate.

Not quite one-third of the claims of his creditors, can be paid in full. A deficit of $1,228,198 was listed between liabilities of $1,735,548 and assets of $507,350.

HAD POLITICAL AMBITIONS

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Leo Korte, who eluded pursuit for a year in Hall's X. S. scheme, had long been a devotee of politics and had been preparing to run for election to the provincial parliament when he was arrested ten days ago.

WILLIAM FEE WAS NOT SLAIN

Banker Died From "Natural Causes" Authorities Agree

(By The Associated Press.)
SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Dec. 3.—William R. Fee, San Gabriel bank president, whose body was found several days ago in the San Bernardino mountains 15 feet from a cabin occupied by Miss Mary Watkins, 26, who said she was his close friend, died a natural death according to a unanimous agreement reached last night by authorities.

The belated report was based on scientific conclusions rather than evidence submitted to a coroner's jury, which found that Mr. Fee died from a blow inflicted by persons unknown.

Shirley W. A. Shay, supporting the same conclusions, said the presence of Joseph Walker, who escorted Miss Watkins to her mountain home might have agitated the banker.

"All the evidence we have indicates that when Fee saw Miss Watkins, and who was with her, then he was stricken with an organic attack in his mental excitement and died," said the sheriff.

Mrs. Mortimer Now Lives For Child

ASHVILLE, N. C., Dec. 3.—"Every day has been sad already," this statement was solemnly uttered by Mrs. Mortimer N. King, whose husband died Friday for the slaying of Major Sam H. McLeary, of the United States army.

Mrs. King resides with relatives at Canton, N. C. She has one child, a baby boy, and she says that she will now live for him and hopes to be able to bring him up a good citizen and a Christian.

Referring to her husband, she said, "He was a devoted father and Sunday school services, this would not have taken place."

LA FOLLETTE REAL HERO AT THE OPENING SESSION

BY ROBERT T. SMALL,
Special Correspondent of The Bee
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—There is no telling where he may stand at the end of this short session of the Senate but certainly at the opening, fighting La Follette is the real hero.

Bob La Follette is the real hero, being thrown out of the party, left, stock and barrel. The act that the senator, the year that made off with the lady made both rolls a good deal better.

At the opening session of the Senate, he greeted his "old friends" and his most recent jumping mate, the Hon. Burton K. Wheeler, still a Democrat, of Montana.

"George, old fellow, how are you? Bless your soul, come over and give me both your hands," said La Follette.

That was La Follette's salutation to the Hon. George H. Moore, senator from New Hampshire, as the Hon. George formed in line to greet the erstwhile and date of the progress party for president.

CITY BONDS ARE SOLD TO BANK, OFFER IS HIGH

Refunding Issue Goes to First National at $100,260—Thirteen Bidders

The sale of an issue of $100,000 refunding bonds to the First National Bank of Danville yesterday was regarded as eminently satisfactory by the city council finance committee.

The city council finance committee met for the purpose yesterday afternoon. The Danville bank made the best financial offer—$100,260 and accrued interest, the price being considered very good for four and a half per cent bonds.

The second best offer came from a local institution, the American National Bank which offered $99,550 and accrued interest.

The number of bids received was considerably increased by the time the hour for the opening of the bids arrived. Several letters being received during the late morning. Twelve bids in all were opened a thirteenth, on from the Guaranty Trust Company of New York arriving just after the committee had adjourned.

This bid will be sent back unopened to the New York corporation.

The city auditor said that the price paid for the bonds was the most satisfactory, considering the maturity of the bonds, received in a little more than four years. The issue is to retire water and gas improvement bonds issued many years ago, and which are maturing on January 1st with insufficient money in the city sinking fund to meet them.

Following is a list of the bidders and the amounts offered, the list including five concerns which have never before bid on Danville bonds: First National Bank, Danville, Va., $100,260.00 and accrued interest.

American National Bank, Danville, Va., $99,550.00 and accrued interest.

Prudden & Co. (Toledo, O.), Greensboro, N. C., $99,083.00 and accrued interest.

Scott & Strinfield, Richmond, Va., $97,819.00 and accrued interest.

Seasgood and Mayer, Cincinnati, Ohio, $98,570.00 and accrued interest.

Braun Bosworth and Co. Toledo, Ohio, $97,138.00 and accrued interest.

W. H. Clark & Co., Norfolk and Co., Richmond, Va., $98,233.00 and accrued interest.

A. T. Bell and Co., Toledo, Ohio, $98,441.00 and accrued interest.

Assel Gotsz and Moslein, Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio, $98,681.00 and accrued interest.

Cur is and Sanger, New York city, $99,670.00 and accrued interest.

Ames Emlerich and Co., New York city, $98,175.00 and accrued interest.

Baker, Watts and Co., Baltimore, Md., $98,310.00 and accrued interest.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Dec. 3.—Chas. Mosby, superintendent of the Elk's national home, Bedford, who was here today, said the trouble arising from the poisoned cider at the home on November 10, now has cleared with the exception of W. C. Hallett, a former hotel proprietor of Danville, Va., who is still critically ill.

Hallett, 53 years old and the oldest resident of the home, having resided there for twenty years.

It was that way all down the line. Standing at the desk, which is on the front row, center aisle of the Senate chamber, a prominent locality, La Follette greeted his friends and foes alike, grinning from ear to ear. He was the smile that wouldn't come off. It was "Hello Jim" to Watson of Indiana; "Hello, Charlie" to Curtis of Kansas, with an additional, "So glad to hear you have been made leader of my former associates, Charlie." There were many, however, an "old-fashioned" interjection with the rest of the greeting.

It was Bob's day. His friend Mr. Coolidge, in the White House, had not quit until March 4.

Senator La Follette's associates in party adversity—the famous Brooks-Bridgman of Iowa, Ladd and Francis of North Dakota—did not leave their seats but then they have not been in the Senate so long and have not so many intimate friends. All the senators made it plain to La Follette that they were cheering him not through any personal dislike, but merely as a matter of party discipline. Bob thanked them all kindly. Bob has been in the Senate for twenty years and apparently can stay just as long as he wants, call him by whatever name you will. Just at the moment he seems to be in excellent health and spirits.

Lengthy Debate on Long Standing Controversy Is Expected—Senate Looks to White House For Guidance—Try to Get Ford Back On List of Bidders.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The Underwood plan for the operation of Muscle Shoals was laid before President Coolidge today by Senator Curtis, Republican leader, and Senator McKinley, Republican, Illinois.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The Senate started today upon the task of settling the long standing controversy over disposition of Muscle Shoals.

The whole problem was before that body under a consent agreement characterized at the last session and an effort will be made to reach common ground on which the various factions can stand.

There is a general disposition to look to the White House for guidance, as leaders of the forces supporting the numerous proposals feel that no Muscle Shoals legislation can be accomplished without the administration's support.

Unless the President takes the situation in hand, there is possibility that debate on the subject will extend over several days and end in something like a deadlock. At the opening of Senate today, the Senator was divided on the subject, some of them having no definite conclusions.

The President is known to favor the lease or sale of the property and the appointment of Senate and House sub-committees to act as a commission authorized to procure a suitable contract. If his suggestion is pressed, the Senate will probably be mustered to carry it out.

Chairman Norris, of the Senate agriculture committee which reported the Norris bill for the operation of Muscle Shoals has announced his intention of requesting the Senate floor the attitude of the administration on the Muscle Shoals issue. If the administration is opposed to all of the pending proposals, he declared it was a waste of time to consider them.

Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, author of the latest plan for the operation of Muscle Shoals, is prepared to discuss his bill at length today. He has the support of a large number of southern senators, and hopes to increase these ranks particularly from among the western senators.

Senator Wadsworth, republican, New York, who introduced the bill for the operation of Muscle Shoals, calling for acceptance of the Hooker-White-Aterbury proposal is ready to support it on the floor. This faction, however, is expected to support the proposal to appoint a commission if that is brought forward.

An eleven-hour effort has been made to get Henry Ford back among the list of bidders. His withdrawal his bid after it had been pending for nearly three years but Senators Heflin, Alabama, and McKellar, Tennessee, democrats, yesterday telegraphed Ford to renew his offer.

If Ford would agree to accept Muscle Shoals under the terms of the Markende bill which passed the House, the old fight over the Ford offer would be revived. Supporters of Ford's bid contend that it will pass the Senate if it ever comes to a vote.

Strong pressure will be used to get the Muscle Shoals question settled at this session of Congress so that the property may be put into immediate operation after the completion of the Wilson dam next July. Upon completion of this dam, the 200,000 horsepower will be furnished and a plan is adopted, these directly interested in Muscle Shoals fear that its utilization will be fraught with confusion.

FORD DECLINES TO TALK

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Henry Ford today declined to commit himself on the proposal to renew his Muscle Shoals bid.

Senators McKellar, Tennessee, and Heflin, Alabama, democrats, who yesterday telegraphed a request to Ford to renew his bid, were met today by Ford's secretary. "Answering your letter of November 28, Mr. Ford's offer was withdrawn by him in his letter to the president October 15."

CONTRIBUTIONS DID NOT COVER DEMOCRATS' NEEDS

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Campaign contributions totaling $845,520 were received by the Democratic national committee from July 1 to November 20 inclusive in addition to a loan of $120,000, according to a report filed with the clerk of the House which placed the expenditures during that period at $902,306. The loan was made by the New York Trust company and was counted among the committee's assets in computing a balance of $61,612.

The report, filed yesterday, showed a major portion of both collections and expenditures was made at the New York national headquarters, the figures there not given as $750,122.74 and $622,452.99, respectively. The balance of receipts and disbursements was divided between the Washington and Chicago headquarters.

Of the official contributions, $635,302 was received in amounts of more than $100. The largest single contribution, $55,000, was made by John D. Ryan, of New York, in two installments of $25,000 and one of $5,000.

HELD FOR LARCENY OF QUANTITY OF TOBACCO

Elmer Perkins and Ernest Alderson, two young white men, were placed under arrest Monday night about 10:30 o'clock by Police Officers Collins and Davis on charges of grand larceny and being intoxicated.

The boys entered the warehouse of the Tobacco Grover's Co.-operatives association and stole tobacco that had been graded to the value of $55.35.

Alderson is also alleged to have taken a motor meter from an automobile in the warehouse. The tobacco was taken to Edmundson's warehouse where the boys expected to sell it yesterday on the open floor.

The robbery was discovered by William Drumwright, the night watchman who saw Alderson take the motor meter from the car. He notified the officers and then they found out that the tobacco had been stolen, also, and later located it at Edmundson's warehouse.

In the mayor's court yesterday morning Perkins was sent on to the grand jury under bond furnished by his father in the sum of $500 and Alderson in addition to being sent on to the motor meter, not being able to furnish either the fine or bond he was committed to jail to await trial.

The Tangles

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

I am really glad, however, little Marquise, that I can now write Jack all about the shop in a letter instead of telling him about it. When he yets that gray look upon his face and his mouth settles into a thin red line, I am always frightened.

Jack told me in his last letter that it was the first one he had written in his own hand in a long time and I know you will be surprised when I tell you that it was only the second letter he has ever written to me that was not dictated.

When I saw his writing for the first time I thought he would have lost all his sweetness had I known it was dictated to Sally Atherton. I would much rather if such a letter had been dictated to me.

I am sure that Sally is my friend and likes me very much. But that letter was something too intimate to be sent through consciousness of another person, especially one who knows us both well.

Soon, little Marquise, your home—the Secret Drawer—will be changed again. The beautiful old desk that was given to you by your lover, the king, will have a place in my own little sitting room over here in smoky old Pittsburgh amid the grime of the steel plants of the great industry of which you must have known nothing.

In this old house which until I have made it over would have probably hurt your artistic soul, you will be enraptured to sleep and dream, amid the noise of a new world, a newer generation, and a newest mode of living, you can dream.

I shall probably not write you again until with all my other Leases and Penates your beautiful desk with the secret drawer is again in my possession. It will seem like an old friend.

I am going to stop writing you now and begin that letter to Jack. Like the boy in the story, "Gosh, how I dread it."

LESLIE.

Letter From Leslie Prescott to John Alden Prescott:

First, dearest man, I want to tell you how happy your letter made me. Whenever you write me letters full of love as the last one was I would not change places with any woman on earth. A queen's crown in exchange for that letter would be poor indeed.

Please do not smile Jack dear, and say that is some of Leslie's extravagance, for it is exactly what I feel and perhaps I am like you in a measure. I cannot say these things in all their poignant sweetness, but I can try to tell them.

I am writing all this in the first few paragraphs because now I am going to tell you something I am sure you will not like. I am going to tell you a secret that I have kept from you for over a year and although I know that you have kept many secrets from me, dear, yet in your inmost heart you have always thought that my mind my heart, my life was an open book to you.

Cupid's Wings Again Bridge Sea

By BASIL WOON (Universal Service)

PARIS, Dec. 2.—Cupid's wings have again bridged the ocean—this time between Biarritz and Buenos Aires. The beautiful "Baby" Robinson, daughter of the late Moncure Robinson and the present Marquise de Inclarcas, is secretly engaged to Martino de Alzaga, nicknamed "Macoco," multi-millionaire son of the richest family in Argentina.

He is known as the "millionaire speed king" on account of his having driven in many international automobile races, including Indianapolis where he took a fleet of "Buggattis" two years ago.

The Moncure Robinsons were leaders in New York society and when, following divorce, he died several years ago, the daughter took up her permanent residence at Biarritz.

Edwards Heirs Not Discouraged By Recent Report

Discouraging references which have recently been made in several quarters concerning the efforts of the Edwards Heirs Association to recover valuable property in New York City to which they claim to have a title, is not discouraging the local organization. A meeting of the Danville body has been called for next Tuesday night in Jefferson Hall at eight p. m. when Attorney McNeely of Washington, who has been for some weeks in New York making a first hand investigation of the claims will make a report. He is to give the benefit of his judgment of the data he has secured during his work. There is also a question of retaining a local attorney to assist in the future work as the direct representative of the heirs of the New York settler and who probably will be despatched to New York.

Metropolitan newspapers are making light of the efforts of the heirs to secure possession of the property. Other groups, however, are forming and are taking preliminary steps looking to filing of claims in Greensboro recently several prominent attorneys were interviewed on the subject and they expressed the opinion that the Edwards heirs probably would never be able to get into court as they would be barred by the statute of limitations. The heirs themselves, however say they have been told that attorneys now have completed the title chain which shows beyond a doubt that the heirs, under the original grant of a large tract in Manhattan are entitled to the property.

The heirs claim that the investigation of their claims has been going on for years and that certain facts are in possession of their attorneys not generally known which warrant a prosecution of the claims. They also say that a compromise offer is pending.

PERFECTION OF RADIO PHOTOS FAR AWAY YET

Static Plays Havoc In Transmission and Officials Are Worried

By EDNA MARSHALL
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—What to do about static? That is the question troubling officials of the Radio Corporation of America who succeeded in transmitting photographs across the sea between London and New York Sunday.

With the success of the demonstration of perfecting radio transmission, one to transmit, the other to receive, each dot and dash at exactly the same rate of speed, after the fashion in which a half-toned photograph is made, the small pictures by minute dots and faint lines traces with fair accuracy the picture held in London, each fraction of a second in which static was experienced caused an empty void to appear at that part of the photograph, the person in the instruments were then reproducing.

Would interfere entirely. A continued spell of static would make impossible the sending of any photograph at all. Various difficulties experienced in sending messages and programs by radio attend the sending of photographs. Fading, when signals become indistinct, due to either conditions, spells failure to the receiving instrument which cannot pick up the dots and dashes which make the photograph on the air.

Last June when the transmission of photographs by telephone was demonstrated at the Republican convention at Cleveland, one point was made clear. Absolute privacy was insured. Because a telephone wire connects only two points, the picture could be received by only the person to whom it was sent.

Radio transmission of photographs presents a new phase which may be an advantage or a tremendous handicap. Because radio waves are not directional, because they have no distance limit except as the power of the receiving set determines how far away they can be received, people in any part of the country, equipped with the proper instruments could "pick up" a photograph sent to a particular person.

Although the Radio Corporation has no license to send its pictures except over the sea, it cannot stop in New York a picture that has been sent from London. That picture can go beyond, if there are instruments to receive it. Thus privacy is endangered—and the chance of more swift and general transmission of photographs than ever has been achieved is added.

CHRISTMAS CLUB MONEY TO BE DISTRIBUTED THIS WEEK

With the cold weather stimulating business in no uncertain way, and Christmas buying beginning to assume its normal proportions a substantial sum of money will be placed in circulation by the end of this week by the American National Bank which will pay out $103,100 to some 3,892 Christmas savers. The disbursement of the Christmas Savings Club funds is being made a little earlier this year. At the bank this morning it was stated that the checks would be sent out in alphabetical order and the entire number would be placed in the Danville postoffice in three groups, the first on Thursday, the second on Friday and the third on Saturday. Preparations were being made in the bank this morning to give a Christmas touch to the Savings Club and workmen were engaged in building in the lobby a large chimney within which an attaché of the bank will have his seat and where the Christmas checks will be cashed. Practically all of this money will find its way into the local mercantile establishments for it is recognized that the Christmas Savings Club originated here in Danville. The national has as its chief object the securing of ready money at the festive season in order to make purchases of gifts. The Danville stores have since Thanksgiving taken on a Christmas aspect and the seasonal commodities such as gifts and decorations are to be seen already in all of the stores.

Despite the depressing period through which Danville has passed of recent months the Christmas Savings Club suffered far less than had been anticipated. In 1923 the bank had 3,625 members of the club and it paid out just before last Christmas the sum of $116,000.

He opposed procedure under section 28 of preferential rate provision of the merchant marine act "until Congress can reconsider the entire question in the light of the experience that has developed since its enactment," and also opposed inauguration of any new valuation of foreign property until the results of the present valuation are known and can be considered.

State of Union Satisfactory. Nothing that the constitution provides that the President shall report to Congress on the state of the union. Mr. Coolidge said the present state of the union is such that it may be regarded with encouragement and satisfaction by every American.

"Our domestic problems are for the most part economic," he added. "We have our enormous debt to pay and we are endeavoring to diminish and we are diminishing it. We have a heavy burden of taxation to reduce and we are reducing it."

The nation, he said, has definitely relinquished the old standard of dealing with other countries by terror and force and is definitely committed to the new standard of dealing with them through friendship and understanding.

"I shall resist any attempt to resort to the old methods and the old standards," he added. "I am especially solicitous that foreign nations should comprehend the candor and sincerity with which we have adopted this position."

THE FRENZIED INSOMNIAC

P. C. writes. Having noticed the remarks of Dr. Evans in answer to "Sleepless," I want to say right now, before I forget it, that there isn't anything in the world that makes a sufferer from insomnia madder than the fool remarks these doctors make. I wish some of them had suffered as I have during the last ten years. Of course, the sufferer is "in a frenzy," as the medico says, but advice to train oneself in equanimity while suffering from torments that Dante couldn't conceive is laughable. When you lie awake half the night and pray half the night and curse the other half and then have a doctor tell you to calm yourself and just be sensible, and all will be right, it just makes you madder and madder.

In my desperation several years ago I put an "ad" in the paper offering $500 reward for any one who could tell me of a cure and while I receive seven cups of interesting formulas for sleep, none that I tried helped me; but I think there were two suggestions that would have helped me if it had been possible to have tried them. One suggestion was to get a job to do, and a day or two later to "come and mind my six unruly children all day while I go out washing." Both meant to physically tire yourself out. And that, I believe, is as near a cure as anything can be. Being mentally tired will not help a bit. Drinking seven cups of coffee before retiring and eating a pound of peanuts before "getting in the hay" I didn't try. Going to bed with wet woolen stockings (wrung out of ice water) was another suggestion I wasn't able to try.

I might suggest to sufferer from insomnia that swearing at the doctor who tells you in a very suave, mild voice that "sleep is nature's restorative" would help some. Move your bed into a boiler factory for insomnia. If you want to, but for heaven's sake don't go to a doctor with your troubles.

Reply. Of course, we use your letter. It is personal, gossip, and abusive. Just the kind of a letter that people like to read. It will grip the readers enough to make them read my comments.

The writer proves my original point. He cannot sleep because he "works himself into a frenzy."

Dogs he have frenzies in the daytime also? Yes.

Rate Hearing In Richmond Begun

(By The Associated Press.) RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 3.—With many citizens living along the Petersburg-Richmond interurban route in attendance to give testimony the State Corporation Commission this morning began hearing evidence in connection with the petition of the interurban company for an increase in rates between all points of the line.

A minimum cash fare of 5 cents is asked in the company's petition, a cash fare of 60 cents from Richmond to Petersburg, compared with the present rate of forty-seven cents, and an increase of 27.5 in the fifty-trip books between the two cities. Corresponding changes are sought between other points along the route.

DUMMY IN BOOTH

MANCHESTER, Eng., Dec. 3.—A purse-snatcher, running from police through a crowded street at night, dodged into a hotel lobby and was lost. Later police saw a figure in a telephone booth in the lobby and approached the booth cautiously with drawn guns. In the booth they found the wax figure of a clothing store dummy that the clever robber had placed there as a decoy.

STORM IS STILL RAGING AT BASEBALL GATHERING

(By The Associated Press.)
HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 3.—Tempests which arose during the opening session of the annual meeting of the National association of professional baseball players still rages, and will recede only after the association goes through its reckoning today.

The storm broke when John Conway, Tool of the International association questioned the association's secretary, concerning the option of national players into the Double A eastern circuit. He charged that the eastern circuit had broken an agreement that only eight men from each club could be placed on option.

Mr. Farrell responded that he did not know the number, but that the matter was in the hands of Commissioner Landis. The International's head declared that it was the business of the secretary to keep the clubs informed on such matters. After a heated debate the question was made the association's first business for today.

Representatives from 21 leagues approved the treasurer's report which stated that 23 minor leagues representing 202 cities and towns and employing 6,123 ball players are now operating in the country, the 2,113,408.45, was paid by major and minor clubs in purchase and sale of players and that $115,846.47 is now in the association's treasury.

Several player deals were announced during the day and Manager Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees approached Manager George Sisler of St. Louis Browns regarding a trade or purchase of the Brown's star pitcher Urban Shocker. According to Sisler, Huggins offered no more than had other clubs.

"WHITE CARGO"

Theatre-goers of today demand something new and the eternal cry of producing managers is to find that something. Leon Gordon, the well known writer of "White Cargo," which ran for 18 or 2 years in New York to capacity audiences at Daly's Theatre and duplicated its sensational success in Chicago and London has succeeded in hitting the public with a play which is entirely different from the mere fact of its continuous runs in these cities is proof of the merit of the attraction.

"White Cargo" is laid on the west coast of Africa, and depicts the efforts of the white man who tries to civilize a country that defies his heart breaking attempts to conquer the jungle with its shining sun that not only rots all vegetation and inanimate things but also rots their minds and moral fibre, it is a fight against loneliness and homesickness, with the ever constant fear of the "jungle" getting you. "White Cargo" contains a faithful reproduction of the customs and traits of African characters and deals with the inter-relationship of the white man with the native woman of the island it is called in Africa "Mammy Palaver."

No expense has been spared to make "White Cargo" the outstanding play that it is and theatre-goers that demand the best in theatrical endeavor will find in this attraction an evening of unique and novel amusement.

"White Cargo" is coming to the Majestic Theatre Monday night, December 8th.

Fire Siren Stops His Hiccoughs

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
SALEM, N. J., Dec. 3.—A short, sharp blast of a fire siren today stopped a three day attack of hiccoughs from which K. A. Godwin had been suffering and it is believed he will recover.

Godwin became weakened by continual hiccoughing and his family was alarmed. His home is near the Salem Glass Works, upon which plant is the city's large fire whistle. The sufferer was startled when the siren shrieked an alarm. His hiccoughs stopped abruptly. And it was a false alarm.

SMALL, RAGGED NEWSBOY PROVES TALENTED SINGER

By VINA LINDSAY (Universal Service Staff Correspondent)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 3.—The hitting notes of the "Dance of the Hours" from "Gloria" were wafted across the elaborately decorated, flower-scented hotel parlor where the Women's Chamber of Commerce here was holding its annual reception and business show. A group had gathered about the piano in the music booth where Miss Eula Peen Wheat, Kansas City musician, was playing. Suddenly a small, ragged boy, curled up on the floor alone side of the piano, a stray newsie, who, attracted by the music, had wandered into the room. He was humming in unison with the music his clear melody rising above the accompaniment. His body swayed in complete abandon to the rhythm. His arm full of papers, had slid out of his small, rough, chapped hands. He was entirely oblivious of his audience.

Finally, Miss Wheat stopped the piano. "What do you want me to play now?" she asked the boy. "I like the 'Humoresque' best," he replied, but I can sing 'Hot Mama' lots better."

The musician began a jazz number. Still unmoved by the gathering throngs, the archer, in overalls and wrinkled gray sweater rose and sang with the emotional expression of a Caruso. His clear, well-modulated voice carried across the hall and drew an audience from all of the other booths.

"Where did you learn to sing?" asked a musician when the newsie had finished.

"At the movies," he replied.

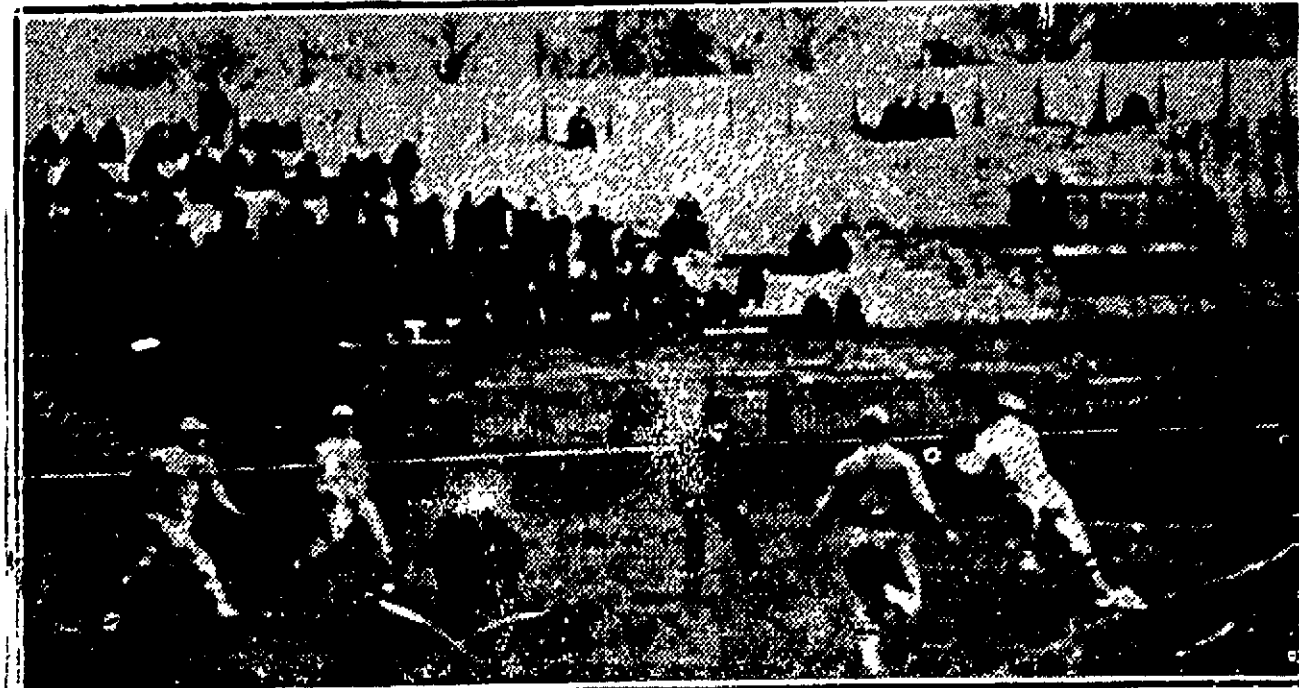

An investigation revealed that the 11-year-old lad, Leroy Whitur, a newsie who spent every spare cent from his paper sales going to picture shows to hear orchestras play. The oldest of a family of six children, he had had no opportunity to develop the talent bequeathed to him by a mother who always had "wanted to sing but never had a piano."

More remarkable even than the boy's clear musical voice was his love and sense of appreciation of music, musicians discovered. The most "high brow" classical numbers had the greatest appeal for him.

Local musicians here have arranged to provide the newsie with a piano. One of Kansas City's foremost teachers will give him lessons.

One of the boy's first purchasers was a nail brush to fit his hand for the ivory keys, to keep clean the hands that once occasioned the whistling of half a dozen other children because they had referred to his digits as "girl's fingers."

This shows a scene on a baseball diamond in Paris when the Giants and White Sox, missionaries of the great American idle hour, sought to show French sportsmen what it was all about.

The experiment was an unqualified success in every respect except attendance. Nobody turned out to see the games. The wide open spaces in the stands, reserved for customers who never came, are glaringly evident in the photograph.

Jack Dempsey Is Eager For Fight

(By The Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—William Harrison Dempsey, hotelman, motion picture actor, and custodian of the world's heavyweight boxing title, has let it be known that he is eager for a fight.

Questioned concerning yesterday's announcement that he would fight three times next summer, the champion declared he hoped it was true, but that it was entirely up to his manager, Jack Kearns, to worry about the arrangements.

Kearns was quoted as saying that he and Dempsey would welcome a California bout with Tommy Gibbons, provided a match carried a good purse and was competently promoted.

CURE FOR ALL DISEASE

ROME, Dec. 3.—In a dark red liquid sold in tiny bottles, Frank Marby, an English peddler, claimed to have a cure for all diseases. He attracted huge crowds to his street lectures and grew moderately wealthy on the sales of his medicine. Police arrested him when they found the bottles to contain merely a popular soft drink with a dash of pensu.

A man had a triangular field, each side being of equal length. There was an opening at each corner of the enclosure. He wished to enlarge the field to four times its original area, still preserving its triangular shape, and without moving any of the entrances (A, B, C) from their present position.

How did he do it?
Yesterday's answer:
To find the difference of the squares of a number, and the next number below it, simply add those two numbers together.
Thus: 133 plus 132 totals 265.
133 times 133 equals 17,689; 132 times 132 equals 17,424.
17,689 less 17,424 leaves 265.
Thus the same result is obtained by one simple addition.

Distribute Peace Christmas Cards

The outstanding contribution made by the National League of Women Voters to World Peace at this Christmas time, is the series of "Peace" Christmas cards, sponsored by them. Thousands of these cards, bearing the Christ message of "Peace on Earth Good Will to Men," have been put on sale in all the first class establishments all over the country.

Instead of the comic rhymes and jingles and distorted pictures, so common at this season, a story of the Christ child, the angle of Hope, Faith and Charity will be sent far and near by thousands of men and women, who this year would broadcast the Spirit of Christmas and "linking together the great human race into a perfect chain of Peace, Harmony and Happiness."

There are nine different cards in the series, each of which carries a complete story, set each possesses enough of the personal element to ably express Christmas Greetings from one person to another.

Queen Mary has chosen "The Flight into Egypt" and Queen Alexander has selected the "Nativity," reproductions of famous paintings, for their Christmas greetings.

Christmas cards seemed to hold the leading interest for Christmas shoppers here yesterday a reporter observed while making a round of the shops.

Chiropractic For Headaches

QUESTION—"Can you cure headaches? I don't mean to relieve them temporarily, but can you cure them so they won't come back again?"

ANSWER—"Any individual who suffers from one of the many different kinds of headaches should understand that this form of distress is but a symptom—an effect and back of every effect there must be a cause. There are no less than a dozen kinds of headaches and each is caused by pressure on nerves somewhere along the course of the spine, cutting off the free transmission of functional energy from the brain. That we are right is amply borne out by RESULTS. Not temporary but permanent results. The time required to bring about permanent results is dependent not upon the severity, character or location of the headache, but entirely upon the time required to correct the pressure and thus make possible the removal of the cause. LAWRENCE PERRY,

Special Football Correspondent of The Bee, 814 World Building, New York

QUESTION—Where did the Giants obtain Arthur Fletcher and in what year did he go to New York?

ANSWER—Fletcher was noticed by McGraw when the Giants were playing against Dallas, Texas, in 1908. And he made arrangements with Dallas at the time to let him have Fletcher at the end of the season. Fletcher played with the Giants in 1909 taking part in 29 games.

QUESTION—What is Red Chapman's light name? He is a Boston fighter.

ANSWER—Morris Kaplan

QUESTION—Is there any rule at Yale, Harvard and Princeton that graduates only shall be used as football coaches?

ANSWER—No, but it seems to be an unwritten rule, so far as varsity coaches are concerned.

New York to Be Host to Classic

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—New York will be host to the Army-Navy football classic next fall for the ninth time. The game will be played Saturday, Nov. 23, at the Polo grounds, scene of the 1923 contest, according to announcement today by the New York National League club, which was understood to have obtained the contest in spite of a bid made by the New York American club to stage the game at the Yankee stadium.

Selection of New York, made by West Point authorities as a result of the agreement between the rival academies under which each chooses the battle ground on alternate years, came as a surprise because of charges in connection with the 1923 game that theatres and hotels charged excessive prices. In addition, widespread ticket speculation came in for criticism.

An official investigation of these charges was made. It was reported theatres had advanced their prices from 50 cents to $2 above normal rates on the night of the game. Theatres and hotel owners alike, however, denied that any profiteering existed in their charges, and in some cases reductions were announced.

TO TEST EFFECT OF HILL DECISION ON VIRGINIA DRY ACT

(By The Associated Press)

STAUNTON, Va., Dec. 2.—Whether the decision of the federal district court at Baltimore in the case of Representative John C. Phillip Hill should have any effect on the Layman act of the Virginia prohibition enforcement law will be tested by Commonwealth's Attorney, Hugh S. Kerr, he announced today. Mr. Kerr said he would seek the indictment by the Augusta county circuit court grand jury of Paul Marshall, negro merchant, who was acquitted in Magistrate's court here Saturday of possessing twenty-four gallons of wine in violation of the law. The two magistrates before whom the case was heard cited the Baltimore decision.

Marshall, according to his own admission, made the wine and put into it a quantity of whole grain rye to counteract the acid. Mr. Kerr declared the Layman act forbids the addition of anything that will make it ferment. Too, he cited another section of the state law which allows a person to keep home-manufactured wine in his residence, but said the store was a public place and did not come within the scope of the provision.

Fifty Years of Baseball

(This is the second article of the series which John B. Foster is writing to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the National League which will be celebrated during the coming season.)

FIRST NATIONAL LEAGUE MEETING IN LOUISVILLE

BY JOHN B. FOSTER

Special Correspondent of The Bee
The first meeting to organize the National League of Professional Baseball clubs was not held in New York City as many believe. The birth place of the league is credited in New York because the permanent organization was formed in New York.

Those who were responsible for the organization of the league first met in Louisville in January 1876. At that meeting there were present W. A. Hulbert, A. G. Spaulding and Louis Meacham, representing Chicago; Chas. Chase of Louisville, and John A. Joyce of Cincinnati. These men were the founders of the National League. Meacham afterward became editor of the National League Baseball Guide. There have been three editors of this publication. It is published by the American Sports Publishing Company and has contained the official rules since it was started. The first two editors were Meacham, who has passed on, and Henry Chadwick, "Father of Baseball," who also passed on. John B. Foster, the present editor, has conducted it for seventeen years.

At the Louisville meeting a special committee was appointed of W. A. Hulbert and Chas. A. Fowler to continue the process of organization and the committee announced the first meeting of the league to be held in the Grand Central Hotel, New York City, at noon on the second day of February, 1876.

A letter was sent to the Boston and Hartford clubs, the Athletics of Philadelphia and the Mutuals of New York. These clubs with the first four represented at Louisville were the nucleus

BIG SELLING ORDERS DEPRESS WHEAT MARKET

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Big selling orders executed through houses with eastern connections had a depressing effect on the wheat market today and prices averaged lower. Enlarged offerings of new crop Argentine wheat at Liverpool was a reason given for selling. Wheat prices here closed unsettled 3/4 to 1 1/2 net loss, December 152 1/2 to 152 3/4 and May 159 3/4 to 159 1/2. Corn finished unchanged to 1/2 higher, oats at 1/2 off to 3/4 up, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to 45 cents gain.

of the oldest organization in what has come to be known as organized baseball. Until the American League challenged it the National was also the most powerful baseball organization. It lived down many fights that were directed against it by rival leagues and association.

While New York is accepted as the place of permanent organization of the National League, where it first elected its president and other officials, there is no doubt that Louisville shares some of the honor of being connected with the start of this powerful athletic association.

Prior to the meeting at Louisville the first thought of the organization unquestionably originated in Chicago.

(In his next article Mr. Foster will tell about the actual organization of the National League in New York on February 2, 1876.)

ARRESTED COUPLE FOR KISSING; OFFICER DEMOTED

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
PARIS, Dec. 2.—M. Carbonnier, a Bordeaux police captain who arrested a pair of peaceful young folk in a public restaurant because they kissed in public, has been reduced in rank for one year on a charge of abuse of authority. The ruling of the supreme court was that Captain Carbonnier abused his authority, since it was proved that a young couple engaged has the right to kiss if they wish. The high court in making the ruling said: "This is not a country of prohibition."

VICE SQUAD IS QUITE ACTIVE IN WASHINGTON

Haynes Tired of Talk "City Is Wettest Spot" and Begins Clean-Up Drive

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Washington has been undergoing the pangs of a moral "clean-up." Whether it was in anticipation of the meeting of Congress, or whether it was just one of those waves that occasionally visit the wicked, the returns do not indicate. In any event there was a New England atmosphere, both as to temperature and seemingly purity, about the capital city as the vice squad swept and small, rugged their way up Capitol Hill to begin the show which big business men are calling the annual "national follies."

Whatever the cause of the clean-up—whether it was word from the White House or the presence of so many representatives of national reform organizations in the city—the prohibition squads and the "vice" squads of the government and the local police have been working over these last few weeks to get the District of Columbia in shape for the winter season.

And, while there may still be some dispute as to the effectiveness of prohibition enforcement in the large sense, there can be no doubt of one phase of enforcement here in Washington. The men of the law actually have put a stop to public drinking. There was a time not so long ago when at the fashionable hotels and restaurants it was no uncommon sight at all to see suspicious looking liquids being poured from silver "containers"—flasks are no longer in vogue—into glasses containing ice and gingerale and the various brands of charged waters. But now all this is changed. Even the crowds which returned to Washington from the army and navy football game in Baltimore did not dare at their celebration to flash an alcoholic drink.

"Sniping" has done the trick. Prohibition acts, as gentlemen in evening clothes, have been infesting the hotels and restaurants daily and nightly. They seem to have unlimited expense accounts. At first they tried to get the waiters to sell them drinks. The fact that waiters being done in Washington, so they started sniping. They would wait and watch until some unsuspecting soul would slyly try to pour some thing from a flask into his glass, and then they would jump on him and all his companions, male and female, and haul them away in a "black maria" to the nearest police station. This sort of thing seemed a joke at first. But the prohibition men have been persistent. Their purses have been well filled and they have continued to "dance and dine" and pinch and pull, until they have the youth and beauty of the capital hacked to death.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes got tired of having it cost up to him so often that Washington was openly one of the wettest spots in this country. There is no connection on his part that the capital is being dry to day, but for the time being he certainly has succeeded in stopping the public drinking habit. What the cost of this suppression has been only the commissioner knows. It can be stated, however, it is not a hazardous one for enforcement for the agents. No lives have been lost, the work is pleasant and the hours short.

The police vice squad has been working 24 hours a day, raiding private apartments and generally obtaining evidence for use in divorce courts. The private detectives of this district are thinking of lodging a complaint with Congress against the activity of the police in domestic affairs. Trade husbands and wives, instead of going to the expense of hiring their own detectives and collecting evidence, merely complain to the metropolitan police who by seigniorial make bids at command. The culprits generally are released for $10 to $25 collectorial. They suffer much publicity, nevertheless, so the police believe there is merit in publishing the moral as well as the tax delinquencies.

Meantime the country may be reassured. The police are making the capital safer for congressional democracy.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—On Monday and again yesterday I suggested the likelihood of a reaction. We didn't have much of a reaction yesterday. Although several hundred stocks closed lower on the day there were a few that made new highs. I still think that a reaction is in order and is coming. If you ask me for a specific reason for this caution would compel me to say that I cannot give you a reason, but you and I know from past experience that markets do not continue in one line without a change. We have gone on for four weeks at a very rapid pace, and I think we are very close to a good set-back and would act accordingly.

MORNING COTTON LETTER.

MORNING SUGAR LETTER.

(Thomson & McKinnon)

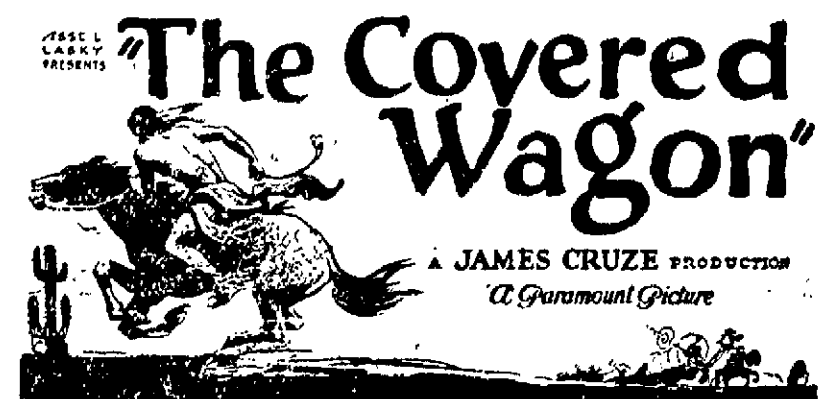

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Favorable weather conditions in Cuba and hopes of an early settlement of labor troubles has relieved the somewhat tight spot position of the raw sugar market with a consequent lowering of prices to a 4-1/2 basis. New crop positions continue to feed the effect of heavy hedge selling and a generally lower level of prices is not unlikely.
